Rockford Man Monday Cleared Up

Frank Gross, 30, of Rockford, was released from the custody of Rochelle police late yesterday afternoon, following an investigation into the death of his brother-in-law, Floyd Karp, 23, at the Compton hospital about noon Monday.

Sheriff Gilbert Finch and State Attorney Morey Pires went to Rochelle at noon and with Lieut. Ray Cramer and Sergeant George Ives of the state police force, questioned Gross, who gave the following version of the accident.

The two brothers-in-law went to Wenona Sunday morning on Gross' motorcycle and spent the day visiting and drinking. On their return trip, he stated, they stopped at Oglesby and had a few drinks and then rode to LaSalle where they visited a notorious resort and consumed more liquor. Starting for Rockford, they continued north of Mendota on Route 51, to about three miles south of Compton, where Gross' motorcycle suddenly swerved off the edge of the paving at about 10:30 Sunday night.

At the time he estimated that he was driving about 35 miles an hour in a misting rain. When the motorcycle swerved back to the paving Karp was thrown from the rear of the machine to the paving. Gross told the investigators that he asked Karp if he was hurt and was told that his brother-in-law was not "feeling so good." Gross told of stopping a truck in which Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Kitch and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Whitmore, construction workers of Compton, were returning home from Mendota.

Karp was placed in the panel truck and Gross told the men he would follow to the hospital at Compton.

When the truck left he had some trouble in starting his motorcycle, he continued, and meantime lost sight of the truck. Not knowing where it had gone, he proceeded to Rockford, arriving home about 1 o'clock Monday morning, and went to bed. When he awoke yesterday, he told his sister-in-law of the affair, he said, and informed her that

War Hits Iowa Zoo
Via Meat Shortage

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Oct. 6.—(AP)—The war has hit the Cedar Rapids zoo, via the meat shortage.

The animals have been eating about 25 pounds of hamburger a week—an appetite that may cost most of them their lives.

"We don't feel that we can conscientiously keep on buying meat for animals when human beings are limited to a certain amount a week," Parks Commissioner Charles Kosek said.

Scheduled to be disposed of are four bears, four foxes, a wolf, a coyote and numerous alligators. Monkeys and rare species of birds will be retained, as will two bear cubs.

"We just don't have the heart to get rid of the cubs," said a city official.

The zoo keeper is helping the war effort in a personal way, too. He joined the army.

Wide World War Analyst

London, Oct. 6.—Premier Stalin's statement that allied aid to Russia "has so far been little effective," as compared with the Soviet contribution to the cause of the United Nations, is being received in Britain in the spirit in which it apparently was offered—without rancor and with a desire to get ahead with the job of hanging Hitler.

Indeed, well-qualified observers point out that obviously there can be no dispute with the Soviet leader's estimate insofar as it concerns aid in the nature of action by combat forces. It is assumed this is what he referred to, not to equipment and supplies which Britain and America have been delivering with such difficulty and danger especially via that hell-fire corner the Nazis established in northern Norway.

Stalin's statement made in response to questions by Henry C. Cassidy, Associated Press and Wide World correspondent, attracted attention throughout Britain. Far from causing resentment the premier's direct language is evoking a response in Britain and America, determined to deliver the necessary aid to Russia at the earliest possible moment.

The striking thing to my mind is that this triple alliance, which in many respects represents a strange assortment of bedfellows, should have reached a point of understanding where rebukes can be exchanged without causing friction. Certainly the same

To Drivers

You can save rubber and help win the war if you will do these things:

1. Drive only when absolutely necessary.
2. Keep under 35 miles an hour.
3. Keep your tires properly inflated.
4. Have them inspected regularly.
5. Share your car with others.

Paralysis Victim's Reading Habit
Leading Her Back to Normal Health

Chicago, Oct. 6.—(AP)—A 14-year-old infantile paralysis victim who cultivated a reading habit for diversion now finds it guiding her back to health.

The knowledge that Margaret Merrick amassed on her sick bed won her a place on a radio quiz show July 1. Her mother Mrs. A. C. Merrick of Western Springs, said this new found interest had much to do with Margaret's walking without a cane last week for the first time in more than a year.

"I consider it definitely responsible for her progress," Mrs. Merrick said. "It's done more for her than anything else we could do."

Margaret, eldest of four children, was one of several boys and girls in Chicago's western suburbs who was stricken in an epidemic in the early summer of 1941. She was paralyzed from the waist

Chicago, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Police today held for further investigation a 37-year-old widow, mother of four children, who was charged by Rodney H. Brandon, state Director of Public Welfare, with having attempted to fire a loaded pistol at him in his loop office yesterday.

Brandon told police that the woman, Mrs. Leona Nielson, leveled the loaded pistol at him and twice pulled the trigger but each time the weapon failed to fire. She was disarmed by a department employee and turned over to

Another 'Can't Be Done' Job Finished

(The following had been Approved Officially for Publication) Oakland, Calif., Oct. 6.—(AP)—Shipbuilder Henry J. Kaiser has accomplished another of those jobs that "can't" be done.

This time it was building a tank landing vessel where there were no facilities for building it. The craft was launched 125 days after construction of the yard began.

The shipbuilders couldn't construct working docks because there was no lumber available. Instead, they dug a hole, lined it with concrete and built the ship on sleds. When it was completed it was pulled out by cables.

There were no cranes obtainable to handle the heavy materials for the ship.

"So," said Kaiser, "we picked up some scrap steel and made three 150-ton cranes in two months ourselves."

The ship, which can carry and land tanks, was pre-fabricated in yards and shops throughout the state and brought piecemeal to Richmond for assembling. It was built in 61 days.

"This," said Kaiser, "is one of those jobs that can't be done."

Russians Crush 22
Attacks 43rd Day of Siege of StalingradNazis Sacrifice Great Numbers of Men as Winter Nears

BY ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor
Russian troops were officially credited with beating off another sledgehammer assault by 45,000 Germans in the 43-day-old siege of Stalingrad today, crushing 22 separate attacks, while north of the city the Red armies knifed deeper into the Nazi protective barrier.

Soviet dispatches said the Germans had failed to gain on any front in the last 24 hours.

Once again, as though to obscure its lack of success in the main Stalingrad battle theater, Adolf Hitler's field headquarters stressed developments in the Caucasus, where a "progressive German attack" was described as wrestling height after height from the Russians.

"In Stalingrad," a Nazi communique said, "the German attack in embittered fighting has made a further advance."

With cold nights beginning to set in, heralding the early approach of winter, German prisoners were quoted as saying Nazi officers and troops were becoming disturbed about the progress of the campaign.

The invaders were pictured as sacrificing appalling numbers of men and machines. Headlong Nazi assaults in a northwest suburb alone were declared to have cost the besiegers 2,000 men killed.

Second Front Talk

As the battle of Titans continued into its seventh week, agitation for a second front reached a crescendo in Moscow and evoked a new warning from Prime Minister Churchill not to press matters.

"We are quite clear that no statement from His Majesty's government is called for at the present time further than those already given," Churchill told Parliament in London.

Churchill's comment was in reply to a question as to whether the government had any statement to make on Premier Stalin's letter to The Associated Press bureau chief in Moscow, in which Stalin called upon the allies to "fulfill their obligations fully and on time."

In far off Chungking, China, Wendell L. Willkie expressed hope that Stalin's letter would "bring Russia's imperative needs forcefully to the attention of the peoples of the United Nations."

Dispatches indicated that the Jury Grants Divorce

To Mrs. Gertrude Holle

A jury in Lee county Circuit court deliberated but 20 minutes late yesterday afternoon in reaching a verdict in favor of the plaintiff in a contested divorce proceeding in which Gertrude Holle of Lee charged extreme and repeated cruelty against George Holle. Several witnesses testified for both parties in the first jury term of court.

The petit jurors were excused until Oct. 19 when they will return to try the case of Fleming vs. the City of Dixon, which last week was stricken from the docket, but which has been reinstated.

A divorce decree was granted today to Alice DeLaine Merritt of this city, who charged desertion by her complaint against Fred B. Merritt. The couple were married in El Paso, Texas, Aug. 8, 1932.

Brisk Turnout in General Election
Ill. Registrations

Chicago, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Downstate voters were given their last chance to register for the general election today, and first reports from the participating counties showed a brisk turnout.

Republican and Democratic workers were out in many precincts to arouse interest and make it clear to voters that if they didn't sign up today they would have to go through a lot of red tape to cast a ballot Nov. 3.

An estimated 1,400,000 persons already are registered under the new permanent registration law downstate, and state officials hoped to enroll between 250,000 and 400,000 more before the 4:12 registration places closed at 9 p. m.

Early reports from Vermilion county indicated that registration outside of Danville would be heavy. The rural precincts still have about 9,500 voters unregistered. More than 550 registered in Madison county, on the other side of the state, during the early hours.

Registrations in Macon county were four times heavier than on last September 19, the last general registration day. Morgan county registration has taken in 13,000 of the estimated eligible vote of 20,000, County Clerk George T. Douglas reported. He predicted 4,000 or 5,000 more would be registered today. Voters were slow in turning out in Jefferson county.

All Parties Cooperate

Henry county voters were turning out in greater numbers than on the last general registration day, Sept. 19. All political parties were cooperating in the job of getting voters to the registration desks.

Sangamon county also reported a heavier registration. In the precincts outside of Springfield it was estimated that 16,000 of the 26,000 eligible were registered.

Registrations in Kankakee county were picking up, and while the early turnout in Lake county was light election officials looked for a rush later in the day. They said they hoped to register 8,000 and have about 50,000 of the county's 75,000 voters qualified by tonight.

George Larson, Knox county clerk, estimated 10 per cent of his county's eligible voters would register today so that a total of 90 per cent would be ready for

Grave Food Shortage
Imminent Is Warning

Washington, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Senators were told by the grocers' representative today that measures thus far taken to avert a "grave food shortage" in this country were "another manifestation of 'too little and too late'."

Rose Marie Kiefer of Chicago, secretary-manager of the National Association of Retail Grocers, testified before the senate small business committee that "unless proper remedial steps are taken immediately, we are heading into something approaching actual hunger within the next 18 months."

"We face not only shortages which can be managed after a fashion by rationing, but actual hunger may come to millions of Americans before the spring of 1944," she declared.

Mrs. Kiefer recommended presidential appointment of a commission of five to undertake a study of the distribution program similar to the one recently completed by the Baruch rubber survey committee.

Tax Bill Amendment
Would Prevent Increase

Washington, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The new tax bill, up for consideration today in the senate, contains an amendment by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) which he estimates would save employers and employees at least $395,756,900 yearly in additional social security taxes.

Under terms of the Social Security Act, the present 1 per cent payroll tax on employers and 1 per cent wage tax on employees would be increased to 2 per cent. The Vandenberg amendment would prevent this automatic increase for 1943.

Vandenberg made public a compilation showing the federal insurance contributions of employers and employees, by states; under the old age and survivor's insurance program, during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1942.

The 1942 contributions, for Illinois was $77,550,000.

Demands for Sales
Tax Renewed; Huge

Bill Will Fall Far
Short of Needs

Washington, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The senate today tentatively approved drastically increased individual income tax rates which would take 19 cents out of the first taxable dollar in the lowest bracket.

The approval was subject to later review or possible amendment. It came during consideration, one by one, of finance committee amendments to the huge new revenue bill. After all the committee amendments are considered, the measure will remain open to further amendment proposals by individual senators.

In approving individual rates previously voted by the house, the senate raised the normal tax from 4 to 6 per cent and increased the first bracket surtax rate from 6 to 13 per cent. In sharp gradations, the surtax rate rises to a maximum of 82 per cent, compared with a top of 77 per cent under present law.

Broadening the base to add about 7,000,000 new taxpayers, the senate as well as the house voted to reduce exemptions of family heads from $1,500 to $1,200, and for single persons from $750 to $500.

In addition, the senate voted to cut the credit for dependents from $400 to $300, adding an estimated 600,000 more taxpayers to the rolls. The house had made no change in the credit for dependents.

More People Liable
The new schedule of exemptions means that single persons making more than $9.62 a week and married persons making $23.08 or more will be subject to the income tax.

Members of the armed services who are below the grade of commissioned officers, however, would receive additional exemptions—$250 more than a civilian, if single, and $300 more if married. The house had voted to grant the additional military exemptions regardless of rank.

Still further demands would be made on individuals under the 5

Giant Negro Held for Death of Girl

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 6.—(AP)—A giant Negro theater porter was held in police custody today for questioning in the brutal killing of Marian Oliver, pretty 20-year-old factory worker, whose nude and battered body was found yesterday back of a movie house where she had gone alone to see a thriller film.

Prosecutor John A. Lynch of Middlesex county said the porter, James Swan, 26, six feet four inches tall, had admitted the story he had first told police was untrue.

The girl's bloodstained clothing was found last night "hidden not far from James Swan's home," the prosecutor said, but he did not give any further details.

Police Chief Frank W. Masteron, said Miss Oliver, who had lived in New Brunswick in a rooming house for about a year while working in a drug factory, apparently had been bludgeoned to death in the women's rest room.

A trail of blood led from the room up a stairway to a second floor window overlooking the yard where her body was found.

Stalemate Over Future of Illinois
Terminal Railway Branch Continues

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 6.—(AP)—As representatives of Illinois communities marshalled objections to the War Production Board's requisition order affecting parts of the Illinois Terminal Railway, the Illinois Commerce Commission was scheduled to discuss the fate of the road today.

The WPB has requisitioned trackage and other facilities on approximately 130 miles of the line, but the ICC denied the road's application for abandonment of service.

The line connects Peoria, Bloomington and Decatur, and Decatur, Champaign and Danville.

In a letter to WPB officials, representatives of affected communities said removal of the line would endanger the handling of 1,000,000 bushels of soybeans, result in no transport facilities for

Sinking of United States Battleship
Claimed by Italy

London, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The Rome radio broadcast a special communique today reporting that an Italian submarine put four torpedoes into the bow of a United States battleship of the 33,000-ton Mississippi class in the Atlantic 330 miles off Freetown, West Africa, and that the battleship "was seen sinking."

There was no confirmation from any other source for this claim nor any indication that United States warships were operating in that area. (In Washington, the Navy Department said it had no comment to make on the claims.)

The communique said the Italian submarine Barbarigo scored four torpedoes hits on the battleship at 2:34 a. m., Rome time, today (7:34 p. m., CWT Monday).

Is Old Battleship
The Barbarigo, an ocean-going type, previously had been reported by the Italians to have sunk a United States battleship of the Maryland class near Brazil last May 22.

This claim, more than four months later, still has no confirmation.

(The Navy Department in Washington said it had no comment to make on the claim.)

The Mississippi is the oldest of three battleships grouped by the United States as the New Mexico class. They are the Idaho and New Mexico, each 33,400 tons, and the 33,000-ton Mississippi, which was completed Dec. 18, 1917.

Committed to Boys
School for Murder

Midland, Mich., Oct. 6.—(AP)—A 14-year-old hitch-hiker was committed in Midland county probate court today to the boys' vocational school at Lansing for the slaying of Clyde N. Valentine, 39-year-old Detroit bartender, last Sunday.

Under the terms of the commitment by Probate Judge D. J. La Goe the boy will remain in the school until he is 19 years of age. What may be done after that time was not clear to Midland county law enforcement officers.

Police Superintendent Frank W. Anderson of Bay City said the boy admitted upon his arrest there that he had shot Valentine after obtaining a ride from him and holding him up with a revolver taken from a glove compartment in Valentine's car.

British Plane Crashes
in Village; 8 Killed

London, Oct. 6.—(AP)—A British plane which crashed into the center of the village of Somersham last night after its crew had bailed out safely killed at least eight of the townspeople, it was disclosed today.

Rationed

Kansas City, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Doctors, too, are being rationed.

The Army and the War Manpower Commission hope to leave one of them for each 1,500 civilians. Col. Fred W. Rankin of Washington, chief consulting surgeon to the Army, told the Southwest Clinical Society meeting last night.

Colonel Rankin drew this outline: There is already a roster of 10,000 to 12,000 physicians who have volunteered to serve civilian communities stripped of their doctors by the armed forces.

Meanwhile the ratio of 6.5 doctors to each 1,000 men in the Army is being maintained on a voluntary basis, and should be continued by that method.

Jap Prisoners of War
Turned Over to Army

A Pacific Northwest Port, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Taken in naval action in the Aleutian, five Japanese were landed recently at a Pacific northwest port and whisked away under guard to a previously prepared detention spot.

An official source confirmed that the prisoners were handed over to the Army by the Navy after their capture in the northern war zone. They were the first Japanese prisoners of war to arrive in the Pacific northwest and were believed to be the first in the continent, United States.

A Japanese who served on a two-man submarine in the Pearl Harbor attack Nov. 7 and was captured during the engagement was confined at Camp McCoy, Wis., for several months early this year. He was transferred to another prisoners' camp several months ago.

Allies Score Fine
Successes on All of Pacific FrontsMacArthur's Men Scale
Last Grades Leading to Stanley's Gap

Sydney, Australia, Wednesday, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Australian troops have scaled the last steep grades leading to the gap through the rugged Owen Stanley in southern New Guinea and there still is no sign of Japanese forces retreating toward their base at Buna, on the island's northeast coast, dispatches from the battlefront said today.

The flight of the Japanese, plus the appearance yesterday of a Japanese convoy heading northward from Buna deepened the mystery over the enemy activity. It still was not clear whether the convoy, which was attacked by American bombers, had attempted to land reinforcements or was withdrawing enemy forces from southern New Guinea.

It was recalled, however, that the Japanese withdrew from Milne Bay, farther down the southeast New Guinea coast, when they were confronted by overwhelming allied odds.

JAPS SUFFER HEAVILY
Washington, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Fresh evidence that Japanese footholds in New Guinea, the Solomon Islands and the Aleutians were becoming traps of destruction for the invader's troops, planes and ships emerged today out of new allied successes in the battle of the Pacific.

On the three strategic fronts allied and American air forces shot down a total of 22 Japanese planes within the last week, damaged two more, blew up a supply ship, bombed a destroyer out of commission, hit two cargo ships, strafed barges and blasted enemy camps, ground forces and installations.

The costly price of Japanese activity in the Solomons was demonstrated in a Navy Department report yesterday. The communique, covering four days of action up to Oct. 3, reported destruction of 10 enemy planes, boosting the total shot down in this war theater to 229 to date.

Amid frequent clashes with enemy patrols, U. S. Marines prevented any major changes in their hard-won positions on Guadalcanal but the Japanese succeeded in landing small troop reinforcements at night. Four enemy destroyers, seeking to cover a small landing

Possibility of Sabotage
Checked in Train Wreck

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 6.—(AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation said today that F.B.I. agents were investigating the "possibility of sabotage" in the wrecking of an Alton railroad passenger train near Alton yesterday.

A. H. Crowl, special agent in charge of the F.B.I. office here, said that preliminary investigation disclosed that connecting bars and spikes had been removed from a section of track where the engine and baggage car of the train were derailed. The fireman was injured but passenger cars did not leave the track.

"We're checking closely on the possibility of sabotage," Crowl said. "Bars connecting the rails and several spikes apparently had been removed before the derailment occurred."

A railroad official reported that a track wrench and a large crowbar stolen from the Alton shops two weeks ago had been found near the scene of the crash.

The WPB expects to get about 18,000 tons of scrap metal from the abandoned routes.

Of Interest to Farmers

Federal Action in Farm Labor Crisis Asked by Governor

Illinois' Executive Appeals Directly to F. D. R. Today

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 6—(AP)—Governor Green has appealed directly to President Roosevelt for federal action within 30 days to combat the farm labor shortage.

With the approval of the state defense council in a meeting here yesterday, the governor sent to the president a letter declaring that "the nation must adopt a more efficient plan of allocating manpower—and do it quickly—if farmers are to produce sufficient food for our armed forces, our allies, our war workers and our civilian population."

The council approved a resolution, adopted at a midwestern conference Sept. 22 in Chicago of representatives of federal and state agencies, declaring:

"Our national war leaders should, in immediate round table conference with responsible representatives of the military, industrial and agricultural groups, formulate a program that will make available manpower to agriculture."

"It is essential, if agriculture is to adequately do its job of producing necessary food, that the resulting program be made effective within the next 30 days."

Cites Growing Sales
Referring to the Chicago meeting attended by representatives of selective service and the U. S. Employment Service as well as other agencies, Green added:

"It was their unanimous opinion that if farm labor continues to be diverted into the armed services and war industry at its present rate, that the nation will face very critical shortages of food."

"The nation must mobilize completely to utilize its manpower to best advantage. The mounting drain upon farm labor threatens to become the major problem on the home front."

"Industry in general in Illinois, and the labor which gives it power, are in a satisfactory condition, but agriculture is being subjected to a burden out of all proportion to the vital part it must play in the war effort."

One evidence of the rural labor shortage cited by the governor was the "very marked increase" in dairy farm dispersal sales. Seriousness in farm labor in some dairy sections of the state is reflected in surveys made by the Illinois Milk Producers' association.

Typical of some of the reports received, as told by the Illinois Agricultural association, was one from Bloomington, which stated: "There is an unusually large number of dairy cattle being dispersed. A few have been shipped to market. The situation is serious."

Other sections give the following:

Jacksonville: "Dairy herd dispersal sales for slaughter increasing due to labor shortage; estimated 10 per cent. Present trend indicates acute shortage of milk in our area by March, 1943."

Moline: "It appears that between 10 and 20 per cent of dairy cows sold are going to slaughter. Five hired men were taken off of dairy farms for selective service on one milk route in one week. In this particular case the milk route has 23 producers which means that more than 20 per cent of the hired help on that route left the farms within one week."

Peoria: "Would say about 25 per cent of the cows are finding their way to slaughter. The milk production in this area is very seriously threatened."

Pontiac: "The labor situation is very acute. There just doesn't seem to be any available. Would estimate that 2 1/2 per cent of cows in several dispersal sales are going to market."

Champaign: "In checking our market we find the labor situation with relation to production of milk is serious. We also find that the supply of milk in our market is becoming shorter daily."

Danville: "There is an acute shortage of milk on this market. Many of our producers of considerable size find it impossible to continue due to the labor shortage and I feel sure a large amount of them will dispose of their herds before winter sets in."

Decatur: "The board estimates that from 5 to 10 per cent of the cows that are changing hands are going to slaughter."

DeKalb: "It looks like we are going to have a dwindling milk supply as time goes on, the direct cause of labor shortage."

WANTS CONFERENCE
Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 6—(AP)—Government, industry, labor and agriculture must meet around the conference table to work out a well balanced program for the use of manpower, Earl C. Smith told agriculturists yesterday.

The president of the Illinois Agricultural Association declared to McLean county Farm Bureau leaders that "a balance in the allocation of man power must be maintained so that we do not take more into the armed forces than we can provide for in the way of munitions and food."

"Our whole approach is not one of keeping men out of the armed forces, and we have never asked for blanket deferment of agricultural workers as a class."

32 Negroes Sentenced for Pro-Jap Leanings

Chicago, Oct. 6—(AP)—Prison sentences of from three to five years were imposed by Federal Judge John P. Barnes yesterday on 32 Negroes, members of the "Temple of Islam," which prosecutors said was a nationwide pro-Japanese group, after they pleaded guilty to violating the Selective Service Act.

Three year terms were given 31 of the Negroes and a five year sentence was meted out to Emanuel Mohammed, described by prosecutors as a son of a leader of the temple.

If the world is going to be fed with food from American farms, there has to be somebody on the farms to plant and plow and pick the corn, and to feed the pigs and the cows and the chickens.

Reports in the newspapers the last few days indicate that the public is at last waking up to that fact.

The war manpower commission says 2,000,000 men have already gone from farms into war industries or military service and, on the basis of an 8,000,000 man army, 1,300,000 more would go into armed service.

In view of those figures, General Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, now says that Secretary Wickard should designate the farm workers essential for food production so they could be deferred.

I think some plan will have to be worked out or we'll have soldiers with guns, but no food.

However, we can't expect to have all the men we need, either on the farms or in the food packing plants. So I want to repeat what I said last week: We're depending on the women to help us out.

I was impressed by a chart I saw showing the number of women in war production in the various countries:

In Russia there are 30 million women in war work, many of whom are serving on the firing line.

In Germany there are 9 1/2 million.

In England there are 7 1/2 million.

In the U. S.—4 million.

Must Do the Impossible

Because, so far, we're fighting on far-distant fronts, most of us don't realize, even now, how much this war is going to affect the way we live and what we do.

We still say we "can't afford to feed cattle at that price" . . . "can't raise chickens if we don't have the help to take care of them" . . . "can't dress poultry and dry eggs if all our men are drafted." You've said it and I've said it, but we've all got to admit that the side that DOES what "can't be done" is the side that wins a war.

Willkie, visiting the Russian front, is reported to have asked a general the size of the area he was defending. "You tell Mr. Willkie," the general said to the interpreter, "that I'm not defending anything. I'm attacking."

That's American talk. It's the kind of talk you heard from the boys who went out in a speed boat to attack a Japanese armored cruiser. They had to use gasoline that had been sabotaged with wax, because it was the only gasoline they had; they had to dodge fire from our own shore batteries as well as from Japanese planes. But they sank the cruiser.

They didn't say it couldn't be done. They found a way to do it. We'll often feel we're being asked to do the impossible. To do it—somehow—is the only way we'll win this war.

Ogle County Farm Bureau News Notes

A new method of building terraces to control soil erosion was demonstrated by technicians of the Ogle county soil conservation district on the Percy Fruin farm near Oregon, Thursday afternoon, October 1. About 50 farmers from Ogle and Lee counties spent the afternoon watching the terraces being formed with an ordinary farm tractor and three-bottom plow.

A very satisfactory terrace one foot high with moderate slopes which would be easy to farm was constructed with the ordinary farm machinery. In the past special equipment had always been used in making terraces. The new method will be a decided advantage to farmers especially now that special machinery is difficult to obtain.

Mr. Fruin stated that he was satisfied that the terrace built with his own machinery would give satisfactory protection from washing of the soils by heavy rains and he found them easy to build. Lee Roy Piper, technician for the soil conservation district, stated that if these terraces proved to be as satisfactory as the former type, no doubt they will replace the former method of terrace construction.

—You want to help, do you not? Then look up all the old scrap metal you can find. It may save your boy or some other mother's boy. Do it now. Please call The Evening Telegraph, No. 5, and we will tell you where to take metal.

—There is a world of scrap iron to be had from our farmers. Much old and discarded machinery that any farmer should be pleased to get rid of.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 6—Livingston E. Osborne, director of conservation, announced today that the division of forestry nurseries have available for fall and spring delivery more than 6 1/2 million trees to be used for forest and erosion control plantings. Twelve species of hardwoods (ash, black locust, black oak, red oak, white oak, walnut, catalpa, osage orange, cottonwood, red gum, soft maple and tulip poplar) are available as one year seedlings at $3.00 per thousand. Eleven species of conifers (red, jack, scotch, pitch, Virginia, shortleaf, loblolly, western yellow, oriental red and oriental black pine, and cypress) are available as one to three year seedlings at $4.00 per thousand. Grey dogwood and wild grape two year seedlings are available at $4.00 per thousand for those who desire to make wildlife cover plantings. These prices are F. O. B. the division of forestry nurseries, one of which is near Jonesboro in Union county and the other near Topeka in Mason county.

Any planting material produced by the division of forestry nurseries cannot be used for any ornamental purposes, such as landscaping the home grounds or for windbreaks, Osborne emphasized. It can only be used for the establishment of forest plantations, for erosion control, and for wildlife development work.

These trees are available to any landowner, either an individual or organization, within the state, and anyone interested in the program should write the division of forestry, 702 Myers Building, Springfield, for complete list and application form and for the publication, "Forest Tree Planting Manual for Illinois," which explains the complete program.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 6—(AP)—The Office of Price Administration has issued a list of "musts" for fuel oil consumers in the 30 rationed states—four steps which should be taken at once to assure getting a fuel oil ration book. The steps are: If you do not have an inventory of the fuel oil in your storage tank taken Oct. 1, do it now. Estimate your inventory on Oct. 1 from the present reading. This information will be required on a fuel oil ration application form which must be filled out and ready to turn in when you register.

If you have in the past obtained fuel oil from a regular dealer, he will probably mail you a fuel ration application and certification of your last year's purchases shortly after Oct. 15. If you do not receive your application after Oct. 15, you can obtain one from your local price and rationing board. Measure the floor area of each room in your home. Do not include recreation room, closets, halls, basements, garages, or sunrooms. Floor area figures will be required. (Illinois is one of the states in which fuel oil will be rationed.)

War Board is represented on the R. F. D. Club broadcast over WROK, Rockford. This broadcast is at 11:30 a. m.

MRS. WALGREEN IS HOSTESS TO ILLINOIS GARDEN CLUB; WILL ADDRESS CLUBWOMEN

"Season of mists and mellow fruitfulness"—that was the poet's phrase for autumn, whose first brisk winds and colored paint-brush have already been at work among the leaves of the beautiful hardwoods and shrubs at "Hazelwood", where close to 120 members of the Garden Club of Illinois were entertained yesterday by the estate's gracious hostess, Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen.

The president and two members of each club were invited to attend yesterday's luncheon meeting, and many Illinois cities were represented including Bloomington, Peoria, Normal, Wilmette, Lake Forest, Wheaton, Oak Park, Rockford, Rochelle, Hinsdale, Long Lake and Sterling.

The skies were scanned anxiously, following an early morning shower, but by the time the guests began arriving, the October sun was shining warmly, and the visitors found foliage tipped with reds, pinks and yellows. The unsurpassed view of variegated foliage, the sparkling Rock river, and the fields beyond, glimpsed from the great picture window in the cliff house living room, presented a panorama as brilliant as a forest fire.

All in all, it was a delightful day for these women whose efforts are bent toward beautifying the cities in which they live—and mingling with the visitors, several Dixon guests set to wondering why Dixon—blessed with more natural beauty than most cities are privileged to enjoy—is without a garden club of its own.

Following a luncheon, brief talks were made by the club president, Mrs. Raymond Knotts; Mrs. Lillian Warren, treasurer, and others. Mrs. Roland S. Reed, president of the Garden club of Bloomington; Mrs. Harold Medbery, vice president of the Arlington club, and Mrs. Harry Vencil of Normal were overnight guests at "Hazelwood."

Mrs. Walgreen returned to the city this morning to attend the annual luncheon for linkswomen of the Beverly Country club, where she played golf occasionally during the past summer—gardening having left her with less time than usual for fairways and greens. Trophies for the season's tourney events were awarded at the luncheon today.

Tomorrow Mrs. Walgreen will show her collection of "Hazelwood" kodachromes for the Oak Park and River Forest Garden clubs at Oak Park; on Friday, she will be attending a birthday party at the home of the junior Charles Walgreens, 116th street and Longwood blvd., honoring the fifth anniversary of her little granddaughter, Leslie Ann Walgreen, whose anniversary also marks that of the late Charles Walgreen, Sr.

Saturday will see Mrs. Walgreen returning to Dixon to address the local Woman's club. Last Friday she was guest speaker for the Madison Woman's club in Madison, Wis.

A Thought for Today
Judge not according to the appearance, but judge righteous judgment.—John 7:24.

Do not hold everything as gold which shines like gold.—Alanus de Insulis.

Inflation, Depression or What?
Short-sightedness is not peculiar to any group or class of Americans. Capital may have it, labor may be afflicted and agriculture not immune.

Politically speaking, the present administration seems to be basing its course on the theory that either the war will last forever, or that federal deficits can be continued forever. Neither premise is correct. Speaking from a historical viewpoint, wars of the scale in which we now are engaged can last only briefly. Federal deficits in time of peace can not continue for long if the government is to retain its credit.

It should not be necessary to say that any domestic course followed by any government ought to be undertaken with the long pull in mind, and for the purpose of promoting the best interests of all the people. Any course intended to promote legislatively one or two groups at the expense of the rest, can not be profitable indefinitely.

It will be remembered that during the '20s and early '30s the farmer was depressed. It does not matter here how that came about, so long as we retain sight of the fact that the farmer grew crops which brought him a starvation income. The result was that the farmer was out of the market for things produced in the cities. He could not buy his share of bathtubs, electrical conveniences, automobiles, furniture or anything else made by city labor.

For some years steel production, rather than freight car loadings, has been considered by some economists as a barometer of prosperity. When the farmers can not buy automobiles or other commodities in which steel is used, steel production must lag. If the lag becomes stabilized, then steel blast furnaces are out of operation. Workers are laid off. They, in turn, can not buy bathtubs, automobiles and what is even worse, their normal quotas of groceries. Coal production is affected. Railroads are hit, and so the disease spreads until we have what is called a full-fledged depression with its attendant unemployment, breadlines, relief rolls and doles.

The farmer is no better than any other loyal American citizen. For purposes of this review he is important only for what he produces and what he buys. He is no better, for example, than labor or the white collar men and professional men.

If, in the '20s, it had been the white collar folks that were depressed and unable to buy their quotas of bathtubs, automobiles and other commodities, then we would have been affected economically by their plight, to the extent of their numbers, just as we were by the farmer's inability to buy. The dollar of the white collar man is just as heavy as that of the farmer, laborer or others.

In congress, by compromise with the administration, they are completing a piece of legislation intended to put the farmer and labor on somewhat the same basis economically. That is, their incomes can be adjusted by governmental fiat to fit their expenses and tastes. But no provision is made for the white collar folks—which is just as great an injustice as though the farmer had been held legislatively below parity.

It is not only an injustice to white collar people who are limited in their incomes by ceilings or war conditions, but it could produce another depression. It is not sufficient that the farmer can live off of labor and that labor can live off the farmer if the white collar people are expected to live by taking in each other's washing.

For the time being, as long as there is a war, things can waggle along, but the war is bound to end. For the time being, as long as the government can borrow money and incur deficits to maintain "made work" projects and relief rolls and doles for white collar people, things might waggle along even in time of peace. But governments can not incur deficits indefinitely. Sooner or later the deficits must end, and with a potential 200 billion or 300 billion war expenditure staring us in the face, the sooner the deficits end after the war, the better.

After the war the American government must bring about a balanced prosperity or else leave the task to industry and private initiative, which could do it better anyway.

Thank You, Congress

We've found fault with a lot of things about the national tax situation, and unless congressional plans change we'll do a lot more complaining. How pleasant it is, then, to be able to toss a bouquet at Capitol Hill, with some sprays in the direction of the Treasury!

For years now we've had to wander around the streets once a year seeking a notary public who for a quarter or so would take our oath that we hadn't knowingly lied in our income tax returns, although the tax law already made it perjury so to lie even though we hadn't visited a notary.

Now, on advice of the Treasury, Congress is removing the silly requirement. We can prepare and mail our return without that unnecessary annoyance and expense, and still be held liable if we cheat.

Tain't Funny

Daniel F. Dunn, running for one of two Democratic nominations from his district to the Massachusetts legislature, died eight days before the primaries.

Nevertheless, in his own town of Palmer (population 9,000) he received 91 votes and his still living ticket-mate only 122. In two towns in the district he led his ticket-mate.

Hearing such a tale, it is difficult to cherish many illusions as to the attention voters ordinarily give to the men they nominate and elect to office.

Extraordin'ry

Official word has arrived that two WPB divisions have been abolished and their functions transferred, which presumably is a matter of internal reorganization of little public interest.

But, mirabile dictu, or, if you prefer, wonderful to report, the personnel is not being retained. The jobs being gone, the workers are turned loose.

Probably there is some precedent in federal history, but we don't remember when it was.

Fair Enough

by
WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Oct. 6.—Well, like I told you, it wasn't only, you know what I mean, you don't like to have a woman riding the bench telling the ball players what to do but the confusion was terrible that summer. Charlie Dissenat's wife was just as nice and pleasant to talk to as anybody you ever saw but after all she wasn't supposed to be the manager and yet you find her butting in on all kinds of things that were strictly none of her business and all those funny friends of hers that she brought around, like for instance, this Professor Weeney, well he just thought he was the headman and the ball players they were just nothing but a lot of scabbies.

But anyway, the worst of it was the confusion because when you come right down to it why there is no two ways about it because you are either out or you are safe and you either win or you lose. But it wasn't that way with our club after Mrs. Dissenat and Professor Weeney and the lady first baseman from Smith College and the youth twerp and the Bulgarian economist got to messing around and everybody in the bleachers gets $1.25 for a bonus with a 50 cent ticket.

Like one day we showed up for work and I looked out of the hole and I can hardly believe my eyes, although by that time practically nothing could surprise me, because I thought I had seen five bases out there. I counted them over again and sure enough we had no kidding five bases as I said well fan me ere I swoon but what goes here if you don't mind my asking.

So Mrs. Dissenat she said, "Why Mr. Dunno this is nothing but just a little social gain, because we want to open the horizon of opportunity to the masses so we are going to have five bases instead of four."

"There is nothing in the natural law," she said, "which makes it so you have got to have absolutely four bases and no more, Mr. Dunno," she said, "and you have got to realize that we live in a changing world and nothing is static so maybe a time will come when we will have 46 or 82 bases according to world progress and if people can't adjust themselves why then you have failed to meet life."

"Well," I said, "pardon me all to hell, Mrs. Dissenat, but I am not a lawyer myself so I don't know anything about the natural law but what about the rule book and all I want to say with all due respect, the trouble with this ball club is we don't even know where we stand any more. I sometimes go nuts trying to figure out where we stand and now we have got five bases."

"You have got to be dynamic, Mr. Dunno," she said, "and the rule book wasn't written by nature because it was written by some men and everything that man does can undo or improve so we will change the rule book."

So you can call me a liar if you want to and I don't blame you but just then Old Weeney showed up with a whole lot of funny people from a thinking school that he was connected with where all they do is sit around and try to think up different kinds of thoughts and Mrs. Dissenat rushed up to them and exclaimed: "Oh here are the new assistants. I am so happy you could come because now when the baseball gets too exciting we can stop and take a rest and have a discussion."

I am telling you and you don't have to take my word because you can find it in the classics. Mrs. Dissenat and Old Weeney they had hired these queeries from the thinking academy downtown where he was professor of thinking, and every man on our club has now got an assistant to assist him making the plays. They were just all over the place and they would get in the way and one twerp by the name of Boris who he nearly got his brains knocked out the first inning trying to assist on a drive past third but she says the idea is nothing new because we always had assistants in the official scoring and furthermore, she said, the world needs more assistance between people because that is the spirit of co-operation and helpfulness and without it, well you have wars.

But if you think that is all you are crazy because just before game time and Brooklyn is ready to hit and we are scattered all over the lot and our five bases with assistants, what do you know but here comes a whole mob of parties nobody ever saw before and Mrs. Dissenat lets out one of those whoops of hers and we discover that we are not playing just two teams against each other but a three-handed ball game. Did you ever try to play three-sided baseball? I don't mean three old cats but three different ball clubs in one game?

Well, if you can understand what I mean by how terrible the confusion was and how it got on

Illinois Council of Defense Gives Newspapers Praise

Grateful for Their Aid in War Emergency; Give Their Space

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 6.—Lauding Illinois newspapers as the "Paul Revere" of the home front war effort, the Illinois State Council of Defense, holding its October meeting here yesterday afternoon, adopted a resolution in praise of a free press freely giving its aid in the war emergency.

Developing Gov. Dwight H. Green's National Newspaper Week proclamation that the state's dailies and weeklies are "guardians of the whole fabric of American liberty," council members and division heads credited success in civilian defense efforts to valuable space given by editors and publishers.

"The newspapers of Illinois merit the warm thanks of the Illinois State Council of Defense for the patriotic manner in which they have publicized important war activities and events of the council," Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, executive director, said.

"Publicity given victory gardens, public health measures, activity in adjusting business to war conditions, and all phases of civilian defense coverage has been of invaluable service to the state. The council is grateful for this splendid cooperation."

"Newspapers are doing a splendid job of sustaining and improving the morale of the people behind the lines," Murray M. Baker, vice-chairman of the council, said. "They are currently doing a remarkable job on their own salvage drive, giving their time, space, and energy to the cause of victory."

Public Information State Senator Arnold P. Benson, chairman of the council's committee on public education, said: "No community can be prepared for an emergency unless the community is well informed. Newspapers of Illinois have demonstrated their willingness to cooperate with the state council in the war effort. The council is grateful for this all-out support."

Rep. Bernice T. Van der Vries and Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, co-chairmen of the council's women's division, in joint statement said: "The newspapers of the state—especially their women's activities editors—have been most cooperative. Without their aid we could never have got our message to the women of Illinois. In our opinion newspapers are performing a signal service on the civilian as well as other fronts."

"The battle on the home front cannot be won without the cooperation of Illinois newspapers," Capt. William F. Waugh, chairman of the civil protection division, said. "Their aid in publicizing every phase of civil protection has enabled the state council to mobilize a solid Illinois front."

"Reports from field workers indicate complete cooperation from local newspapers in our intensive scrap drive," George M. Eisenberg and Walter V. McAdoo Jr., co-chairmen of the state council salvage division, declared. "More than any other single agency they have succeeded in making citizens scrap-minded."

HUMPHREYS IN WASHINGTON

BY ROBERT HUMPHREYS
(Distributed by King Features Syndicate)

Washington, Oct. 5.—White House secret service men, who are pretty good at judging crowds, estimate that not more than 150,000 persons saw President Roosevelt on his secret 8,700-mile inspection trip.

That's about the same number of people who would have seen him had he spoken in Madison Square Garden in New York, and then ridden in an open car from the Garden to Pennsylvania station.

Of the 150,000 who saw the chief executive, it is estimated that 100,000 were men in the armed services (Roosevelt inspected 15 Army and Navy establishments). The remainder were defense workers, and casual pedestrians who happened to catch glimpses from the streets or in stations.

The president made only two speeches. One was prepared in advance and was delivered to approximately 5,000 Bremerton, Wash., shipyard workers; the other was impromptu, and was heard by an estimated 7,000 workers at the Kaiser shipyard in Portland. Both were non-political.

In only one city—Bremerton—did the word of Roosevelt's presence spread fast enough to cause a crowd to line the streets.—Estimate: 2,500.

Except for 11 governors who acted as his host in their respective states, Roosevelt saw no political notables during the entire trip. Of the 11 governors, seven were Democrats, four were Republicans.

When the president commenced his trip on the night of Sept. 17, and the "Secret" began to spread through the Capitol, most Republicans were sure it was a political junket, most Democrats afraid that it was.

Despite all the controversy of the last few days, that's not what they think now. Privately, most politicians, now that they have cooled down, will tell you that they believe the political state of the Union is about where it was on the night of Sept. 17.

They don't think many voters were reached by rushing past 150,000 persons behind a screen of secret service men. They don't think that any political destinies were settled by seeing 11 governors and John Nance Garner.

And further, not many of them any longer take much stock in their original suspicions that Roosevelt had politics in mind when he started out. But if he did, then they think he bungled the job badly.

Congress, regardless of what members have said publicly, has not taken kindly to the whole business. Nine members out of ten, including administration leaders, were already bitter about the "you-do-it-or-I-will" ultimatum delivered on the anti-inflation bill before the trip was made.

The blanket of extreme censorship, imposed on the press and radio also did not set well, although there was nothing to prevent any congressman who knew of the trip—and they all did—from getting up on the floor and announcing it in toto. But with the president's safety hanging balance, no man dared let off steam and that was what irked them.

Deep beneath the resentment in congress, however, was sincere anxiety for the President of the United States. Fear for his safety was real, and when the word was flashed to Capitol Hill that he had returned you could almost hear the collective sigh of relief.

Had the president listened to the railroads and to the Secret Service, the trip would never have been undertaken. They were dead against it.

The railroads did not want the responsibility and the Secret Service could envision the gigantic task of setting up the protection necessary. But the president prevailed, and the organization for the trip began more than a month ago.

Frank J. Wilson, head of the Secret Service, and M. F. "Mike" Reilly, who directs the White House force, laid out the plans with railroad, Army, Navy and local police officials cooperating. Over the president's route from Spokane to San Diego, the pre-

Dr. Charles Drake Skinner, above, superintendent of the Joliet-Dixon district of the Methodist church, will be the guest speaker at the first church family night cooperative supper meeting for the fall season, to be held at the local Methodist church tomorrow evening of this week at 6:30 o'clock. All members and friends of the church are invited. Bring every member of the family, table service and sandwiches for the family group and a dish of food to pass.

Special tables will be reserved for the workers in the annual every member canvass of the church which is just closing and a report of the results of this canvass will be given.

Following the program, Dr. Skinner will conduct the first quarterly conference of the church for this new conference year. Every official member is expected to attend this important conference. All others present at the supper meeting will be welcome.

cautions were elaborate beyond belief.

Soldiers patrolled the tracks at 300-yard intervals. They occupied cliffs, buildings and anything else along presidential auto routes from where an assassin might have operated.

State and local police reinforced the members of the armed services. Reilly traveled as much as three days ahead of the president's train, checking and re-checking every detail.

At each plant, shipyard or military installation, only the highest officials—usually one man, but in a few cases more—knew that the president was coming. The remainder simply were informed that an "important visitor" was expected.

Secret Service men noted that in most plants visited many workers were unaware that the president was being driven through the establishment and never looked up. Hundreds did not know it was the president they had seen, until after he had passed them.

The SS men had only one real scare. At Athol, Ida., where the president inspected Farragut naval training station, a man was discovered crouching in the bushes only a few feet from Roosevelt's car. Four Secret Service agents leaped through the air from their car, landing on the lurking man just as he rose and pointed an object at the president.

Smothered under the See Men, he was seized and rushed to the Commandant's office. He proved to be a civilian photographer, hired by the Navy to make a few photographs of the station. He had planned to throw in a few extra pictures of the president for good measure.

Walgreen Host to Fellow Officers in Drug Company

Charles R. Walgreen, Jr., president of the Walgreen Co., entertained a group of officers and employees of the company at Hazelwood, north of the city over the week end. Among the guests were several of the business associates of the late Charles Walgreen, Sr. A complete and interesting program of entertainment was arranged by the genial host Saturday and Sunday, many of the visitors playing golf while others confined their activities to the billiard room.

Steaks from the champion Angus, Dale Page, a pet at the Walgreen stables for some time were served the guests. The champion is no more and all that remains is 2,000 pounds of choice steaks and roasts. The late Charles Walgreen purchased the champion at the annual fat stock show in Chicago a few years ago, paying $3,600 for the fine animal. At the close of the banquet Sunday, the guests presented their host with a fine shot gun which has been added to the fine collection in the Walgreen arsenal at Hazelwood.

Included among the guests were the following directors of the Walgreen company: Samuel Boyer, James Ward, Rowland Schmidt, Al. Starschack, Harry Goldstone, R. E. Walker and William G. Johnson. It doesn't cost anything, so I don't see why I shouldn't take a crack at some of the grid battles this weekend.

The one I especially like is Missouri at Wisconsin with the former winning in a high scoring contest. Minnesota should romp over Illinois in the first leg of its Western Conference title defense. Northwestern shouldn't find Purdue too hard to take and Iowa U. ought to come out on top of Camp Grant.

Billy Hillenbrand will help Indiana to victory over Nebraska and Marquette will win a close one from Iowa State. Duquesne will find little opposition from Kansas State.

In one of the best games of the day, the Iowa Seahawks will add Michigan to its list of victims. Notre Dame, and Ohio State will both repulse invasions by the Pacific Coast conference teams, Stanford and Southern Cal.

Great Lakes will make it 2 wins, one loss by downing Pittsburg.

Around the country: Washington State over Montana; Washington to beat Oregon; UCLA bowing to Oregon State; St. Mary's to turn back Nevada; Santa Clara to give California a licking; Texas A. & M. to whip Corpus Christi; Navy; Oklahoma Aggies to beat out Texas Tech; Kansas to fall under TCU; Texas over Oklahoma; Rice in a free-scoring battle over Tulane and Baylor to down Arkansas.

William and Mary to defeat Harvard; Wake Forest to ramble against Furman; Vanderbilt to conquer Kentucky; Mississippi State will bow to L. S. U. after a mighty goal tussle; Mississippi to taste defeat at hands of Frank Sinkwich and his Georgia mates; Auburn over Florida; Duke to win in tilt with Georgia Navy; Boston College over Clemson and Alabama to take the measure of Pensacola Navy.

Penn. to blast Yale; Navy to sink Princeton; Fordham to recover from last week's loss with a triumph over North Carolina; Colgate to beat Dartmouth; Army to outfire Cornell; and Columbia to humble Brown.

Lee Raffenberg outdistanced a large field of competitors last night to win the title of champion pinochle player of the 1942-43 season of the Dixon Elks. The tournament was played at the club house last evening and attracted several exponents of the game who piled up some neat scores which were topped by Raffenberg's total.

LINCOLN LANES

The Ordinance Firemen beat the Ordinance Auditing team two out of three in a G. R. O. P. match game at the Lincoln Lanes last night. However, Pahnke, Auditors number four man, was high man for the evening with 205-185-161-551.

Poffenberger topped the firemen with 187-173-153-513.

Workers in the Simmons Dept. at the ordinance plant will take over the Lincoln Lanes alleys to night to engage in their second round of doubles matches. Last Tuesday night 12 teams participated and an even larger turnout is expected tonight. Play will start at 7:30 o'clock.

New York, Oct. 6.—You'd be surprised at how many folks hereabouts think they won't have another chance to see a World Series for a long time. . . . Maybe that explains those tremendous crowds at the stadium—and the polite handclapping that greeted each Yank as he made his first appearance at the plate yesterday. . . . The fans seemed to be saying: "Well, we won't be seeing you again, but you were good guys when you had it." . . . Probably half of each squad will be in the armed forces before another season, but Whitey Kurowski's trick arm likely will keep him out. . . . It won't make the Yankees any happier if they have to meet him another time. . . . Come to think of it, those 23-year-old Cardinal kids ought to make ball players when they grow up.

CLEANING THE CUFF

Joe Gordon must have had that roller-coaster feeling during the World Series. Last year he hit .500 for a record. This year his average was .095. . . . Johnny Beazley started out as an amateur boxer and won three fights in a Nashville Golden Gloves tournament before his mother made him quit. . . . He's still a pretty good fighter on the mound. . . . The Dodgers' Dixie Walker has a new job as a recreation director of a big defense plant on Long Island.

Wreck Yanks in Five Game World Series

Rookie Kurowski Smacks 9th Inning Homer to Give Birds Title

BY GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Oct. 6.—(AP)—If it were not for the probability that the war will break it up, the St. Louis Cardinals club that completed the job of wrecking the New York Yankees yesterday might within the next few years go tearing on to win ranking with the greatest teams in baseball history.

It is a son-of-a-gun of a baseball club—much better than anyone suspected even when it was running wild in the closing stages of the National league race. There is no team in either league at this time with anything approaching the all-around punch, pitching and polish of the new world champions.

On the off chance that somebody might think we are going overboard on the bold young men of Manager Billy Southworth, a few figures might be in order: Through yesterday's deciding game at the stadium, which was won by 4-2 on a two-run homer by George Kurowski, rookie third baseman, in the ninth inning, the Cardinals won 47 of their last 57 contests in the 1942 season. That comes to an altitudinous winning average of .824 down the stretch.

Great Pitching They slugged and slashed their way to victory in their last six straight games in the league race, paused only to drop the World Series opener in St. Louis, and then battered the Yankees into submission in four straight. Some time, some team might have set a record that looks comparable in print, but forgive us if we doubt that the competition was as tough as that bowled over by the Cardinals in their amazing drive to the top.

With all due respect for the Brooklyn Dodgers, it would have been a shame if the Cards' sensational charge had fallen short of the National league pennant. Two capacity crowds in St. Louis and three vast gatherings of nearly 70,000 here would have been deprived of a baseball treat to be treasured.

It is doubtful the Dodgers could have beaten the Yankees. They lacked pitching. As the series unfolded it became obvious that the Cardinals not only had all the dash and color which had become their hallmark, but that they also possessed great pitching in quantity. Mort Cooper, their biggest winner, was slugged from the box twice by the Yanks, yet they had the men who could take up the slack in Johnny Beazley, Ernie White and Max Lanier.

Beazley, the solemn 23-year-old rookie from Nashville, who defeated the Yankees in the second game to square the series and then came back to clinch the championship yesterday, probably deserved to be called the series star. He showed an astonishing store of poise for a youngster.

Star Studded But the Cardinals line-up was studded with stars. It strictly was a team victory. Take Kurowski, the rookie third sacker from Reading, Pa. His game-winning blow yesterday was little more important than the triple he smacked in the second game to drive in a run and throw the Yankees into a tantrum of umpire-baiting from which they never recovered.

Or Terry Moore, the team's great captain and center-fielder. In the course of the series he made two of the most spectacular catches ever seen on any field to stifle Yankee rallies. He singled and later scored the sixth-inning run that tide the count at 2-2 yesterday and set the stage for Kurowski's winning wallop.

Or Enos Slaughter, who saved two games with marvelous plays, one a Dead-Eye Dick peg to third base from right field and the other a leaping catch of what should have been a homerun by Charley Keller.

To top off his fine performance, he slugged a fourth-inning home run yesterday to equalize a four-bagger with which little Phil Rizzuto had greeted Beazley in the opening round.

Rizzuto, Yank Hero And then there was White, the southpaw, who blanked the Yankees 2 to 0 in the third game; and Walker Cooper, who out-starred Bill Dickey behind the plate, capping his efforts with a snap peg that caught Joe Gordon off second base in the ninth inning yesterday.

Each of the other players seemed to hit or come up with a great play when it was needed most. As for the Yankees, they simply ran into a bunch of game, hard-playing, hungry youngsters. The most inexplicable collapse of the classic was contributed by Joe Gordon, the Yank second baseman. Standout of the '41

CUBS CAPTURE 2ND STRAIGHT IN CITY PLAY

Chicago, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs won an extra inning game from the White Sox last night, keeping alive their hopes for victory in the annual City Series.

The win, second straight for the National Leaguers, gave the Cubs a chance to extend the four of seven series to the limit with a victory tonight. The Sox won the first three encounters.

Clyde Passeau, the Cubs' ace, and the veteran Ted Lyons pitched scoreless ball until the eighth inning when the National leaguers put over one run only to see the Sox score the equalizer in the last of the ninth.

Phil Cavaretta's triple and Bob Sturgeon's fly accounted for one run in the tenth inning and it was the margin of victory.

Lon Warneke and Bill Lee were ready for pitching duties for the Cubs tonight, while Johnny Humphries or Edgar Smith were probable choices for the Sox.

A seventh game, if necessary, also will be played under the lights at Comiskey park.

All Americas Are Common at Minnesota

Bill Daley Should Follow Franck, Smith to Grid Fame

Chicago, Oct. 6.—(AP)—In 1940 it was George Franck; last year it was Bruce Smith, and in 1942 it may be Bill Daley as the third link in a chain of Minnesota backs to become All Americas.

Daley, a line-ripping fullback, has picked up 284 yards by rushing and 61 by passing for a total of 345 in two games. In 32 run-nine yards. He is the second highest scorer in the region with five touchdowns for 30 points.

Top point producer is sophomore Gene Fekete of Ohio State who has five touchdowns and five conversions. Don Griffin, who will lead unbeaten, untied, and unscored upon Illinois against Minnesota Saturday, has the best ball-carrying average with 10.1 in 32 times. Indiana's Bob Cowan, a sophomore, is only a fraction behind.

Best passer in the statistics is Dick Fisher, formerly of Ohio State and now a member of the undefeated Iowa Seahawks. He has completed 11 of 17 for 239 yards.

Records: The Gophers have won 10 games, lost five and tied one with Illinois since 1898 and will appear at Champaign Saturday for the first time since 1920. . . . Purdue and Northwestern, each with 20 wins, meet for the 26th time Saturday. . . .

Patriotic salute: To Illinois, with 18 of its 34 members of the physical education department and coaching staff in the armed forces. . . . To Wait Paulson, Northwestern drummer, for spending the summer collecting 100 photos of former Northwestern athletes now in service and presenting them in football programs. . . .

Brother combine: If Tom Miller wins a letter at Notre Dame it will make the first brother combination to get Irish grid sweaters in the same season. . . . His brother is Creighton.

series, when he practically beat Brooklyn single-handed. Gordon made only two hits in 21 times at bat against Cardinal pitching and didn't shine particularly in the field. He and Phil Rizzuto did not make their first double play until the final game, whereas they stymied Brooklyn with seven a year ago.

Little Rizzuto played the best all-around game for the Yanks, hammering eight hits in the five games and fielding cleverly.

A World Series always has to provide one good opportunity for the second-guessers to play their trade, and this was no exception. Last night and today the men who have had years of experience in managing from the grand stand were demanding to know why Joe McCarthy, the Yankees' pilot, permitted Ruffing to pitch to Kurowski in yesterday's ninth inning. They would have walked him without a second thought.

LEAHY IS STRONG CANDIDATE FOR 'GOAT-OF-YEAR' HONORS

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

Chicago, Oct. 6.—The situation at Notre Dame is ripe for name-calling, and it takes no great mind to put two and two together, get five and label Frank Leahy the goat-of-the-year.

It would be a terrific come-down for the coach-of-the-year of 1941, but the facile logic of contributing all of Notre Dame's unforeseen ills to a change in system is certain to be thrown into Leahy's face.

The bright adjectives and black ink of advance publicity notices, in which his team was labeled as the greatest since Knute K. Rockne's 1930 juggernaut, will not soften the criticism. The experts, synthetic and genuine, are certain to point an accusing finger at Leahy for inaugurating the complex T formation and destroying the cohesion of the Irish.

Leahy defends his change in strategy on the ground that in his opinion that T is best suited for the type of material on hand. All he asks is a chance to use that material.

Fred (Dippy) Evans, who was counted on to play George McAfee's role in the T, has been sidelined by injuries. His understudy, Creighton Miller, lacks Evans' speed and 'as been further slowed up by a bad ankle. Irish coaches claim that plays on which Miller has broke away for sizeable gains—and there have been many of them—would be touchdown romps for Evans.

Jerry Cowing, the 200-pound sophomore fullback, who figured to be the Norm Standlee of the setup, has been benched by a groin injury. Sophomore Jim Meilo, his replacement has played well but lacks Cowing's explosive speed.

Wally Ziemba, the rock in the middle of the Irish line, is only 60 per cent as fast as he was last season. Both knees are bad and tend to lock in a game. This injury was aggravated in the Georgia Tech setto and may shelve Ziemba for the season.

These bumps and bruises are new to Leahy. Last season the Irish did not suffer a serious injury. He was equally fortunate at Boston College.

Angelo Bertelli is passing well from the T and calling plays with satisfactory acumen. He misses Steve Juzwik, his number one receiver last season, who has graduated. Bob Dove, who worked at guard during the spring and fall drills, was shifted back to end four days before the Wisconsin opener and is not playing up to par.

The Irish are grinding out yardage victories which, of course, mean nothing on the scoreboard. They outgained Wisconsin 226 to 194, and Georgia Tech 194 to 154. Leahy calls Bill Alexander's En-

The big story in last night's Ladies league play at Dixon Recreation is contained in the second game between Trein's Jewelry and Dr. Bend. In this match, A. Myers, rolling in the jewelry outfit's number one spot, put together 8 strikes, one spare and a split for a 245 total. This mark is equalled only by Pabst's (G. R. O. P. League) 246, and is 10 pins better than any of the other male beglers has tallied in league competition.

Myers did not approach this score in her first and second sets, getting a 148 and 147 for a 538 total. However, she also holds the individual series record for the Ladies loop, 544, which she set in the first night of competition three weeks ago.

By the way, the Treins team swept its series from the Bend girls to gain a notch on the league-leading Budweiser Gardens outfit which could win only two out of three from Eichler Bros.

Peter Pipers remained tied with Treins in the runner up spot by taking three straight from Frazier Roofing Co.

Freeman Shoes No. 2, Manhattan Cafe and Tony's also were all-victorious in their matches with Montgomery Ward, Bowman Bros. and Villiger Drugs, respectively.

Gateway and Plozman's Busy Store were two and one victors over Freeman Shoes No. 1 and Kathryn Beard.

Lincoln Lanes In the Green River Ordinance plant Ladies league at Lincoln Lanes, the A. E. M. Dept. team won two of its three games with the Cafeteria outfit to jump into a tie with the Comptrollers No. 2 outfit which lost three straight to Production.

Central Calculating and Operations No. 2 swept their series with Comptrollers No. 1 and Employment No. 1, respectively, to remain knotted for second in the loop standings.

Group V, a new entry in the league, won two from Operations No. 1 and Ordinance No. 1 took two out of three from Employment Dept. No. 2 to round out the night's activities.

Nagle had a record 158 in her first game but her A. E. M. Dept. teammate, B. Allen, scored 131-156-130—517 for an individual series mark. A. E. M. with 759 and Ordinance No. 1, 2156, were the top scoring teams.

Russians Crush 22

heaviest fighting flamed in Stalingrad's northwest suburbs, where three German divisions, led by 100 tanks and supported by swarms of dive bombers, attempted to smash into a workers' settlement.

Soviet dispatches declared that wave after wave of Nazi attacks were hurled back.

Red Star, Russian army newspaper, said Soviet troops attacked a German-held village and fortified hill from three sides in the Voronezh zone, drove into the settlement, captured the hill and advanced more than a mile into the fortified depth.

Other developments: Western air war—A "strong force" of perhaps 200 RAF bombers, striking in the third night raid this month, attacked German war industries in the western Reich overnight, while other RAF planes hammered the Nazi-occupied Channel invasion coast.

Trouble in Norway—DNE, the official German news agency, announced that a state of civil emergency had been proclaimed by German authorities in Trondheim, Norway, because of sabotage attempts.

Egyptian campaign—Italian field headquarters reported that British troops attacked in the central sector of the 35-mile El Alamein front, 80 miles west of Alexandria, but were thrown back with heavy losses.

A British communiqué reported all quiet.

NAZIS FEAR WINTER By Eddy Gilmore

Moscow, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Defenders of Stalingrad were reported holding firm today against three Nazi divisions in a flame-laced battle for a workers' settlement and Red army troops fighting for relief of the garrison stabbed anew into the German left flank.

German artillery and mortar barrages heralded the opening of a series of attacks by the three divisions—totaling from 30,000 to 45,000 men. Swarms of dive-bombers and 100 tanks roared into the fight for the salient.

Prisoners told Red army commanders that their officers feared to delay any further in their overdue plans to take the city. Colder nights have arrived on the Stalingrad front.

At one place the Germans hurled 22 attacks, but all were repulsed, the Communist party newspaper said.

German losses in the last 24 hours have been huge and the enemy failed to advance on any front, it was declared.

German captives were quoted as saying that, as troops begin to shiver in the cooler temperatures, they become less satisfied with their progress.

Seize in 43rd Day Premier Stalin's warning that the city's defenders were not to take one step backward was credited with helping to stiffen their resistance against a siege now in its 43rd day.

Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's shock troops were reported at midnight to have improved their positions again northwest of Stalingrad and this was followed at noon by a report that the Soviet side in the same region "unit N" made a slight advance.

Volga river gunboats were credited with silencing two enemy artillery batteries and destroying three mortar batteries in support of the Stalingrad defense.

Defense and offensive operations in the Mordok area of the central Caucasus were said to have led to the slaying of some 600 Germans and destruction of seven tanks.

"Southeast of Novorossisk (in the western Caucasus) Soviet troops counterattacked, capturing a height, routing a Russian battalion and destroying two tanks," the communiqué said.

Red Bombers Busy Russian bombers stationed at Baltic bases were declared to have destroyed seven Junkers dive-bombers and damaged 12 others in a raid on a German air base.

Russians indicated that about 2,000 Germans had been slain in renewed fighting for the Stalingrad workers' settlement, still in German hands despite a heavy pounding.

German use of Red army uniforms as disguises was reported again, this time from the Mordok front. Red Star said a party of Nazi soldiers in Soviet garb, discovered attempting to outflank a Russian hill position, was mowed down to the last man by machine gun fire.

Lviv said German parachutists landed in the high Caucasian passes and the local mountaineers were helping the Red army men to deal with them.

From the Voronezh front on the upper Don came a Red Star dispatch which declared the Russians had attacked a German-held settlement and fortified hill from three sides, driving into the village, taking the hill and moving more than a mile into the fortified depth.

BERLIN'S CLAIMS Berlin (From German Broadcasts)—Oct. 6.—(AP)—The German high command said today that a "progressive German attack" was wresting height after height from the Russians in the Caucasus.

It mentioned gains specifically in the mountains northeast of Tula, Soviet Black sea naval base, and along the Terek river.

In Stalingrad, the communiqué said, "the German attack in embittered fighting has made a further advance."

"Northwest of the city a second Soviet group was encircled by the Don front. Rumanian, Italian and Hungarian troops frustrated several attempts of the Soviets to cross the river, and repelled Soviet thrusts."

Demands for Sales

per cent "victory tax" on gross incomes above a specific exemption of $624 a year. The victory levy, however, is yet to be considered in a subsequent section of the bill.

As the reading clerk ran through committee amendments to the measure, Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the finance committee agreed to put over certain controversial amendments on request of various senators.

Senator LaFollette (Prog-Wis.) asked that the corporate tax section be passed off, after serving notice he would move to make the combined net and surtax rate on corporations total 55 per cent instead of the 40 per cent the committee approved.

Sales Tax Demanded Demands for a sales tax arose from members today as the senate received from its finance committee the gigantic new revenue bill which Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said would be at least $6,000,000,000 short of war-time needs.

Without officially estimating the additional yield of the new measure, the committee report criticized as too high the 45 per cent normal and surtax rate voted by the house on corporation profits and noted that it had cut the rate to 40 per cent.

While the report did not allude to Morgenthau's demand of yesterday for even higher taxes, committee members declared in no uncertain terms that something new in taxation would have to be added if Morgenthau's goal of $30,000,000,000 a year, "and possibly much more," was to be reached.

The treasury head said the committee-approved bill, combined with present taxes, would raise about $24,000,000,000 a year, or about $2,000,000,000 less than Chairman (D-Ga.) has estimated.

Sensors Herring (D-Iowa) and Radcliffe (D-Md.) said they believed the only way $30,000,000,000 could be raised would be through a sales tax.

"We're going to have to come to that, a straight across-the-boards sales tax," Herring declared. There have been estimates that a sales tax of at least 10 per cent would be required to raise $6,000,000,000 additional.

Compulsory Savings Likely Senator Clark (D-Mo.), an opponent of the sales tax, said he frankly did not know where the money could be obtained and agreed with Senator Johnson (D-Colo.) that the point of diminishing returns rapidly was being approached in federal taxation.

George speculated that Morgenthau may have had in mind a system of compulsory savings, instead of additional direct taxation, a program Senator Brown (D-Mich.) said he hoped would be undertaken.

In its formal report, the committee said it believed the house-approved rate of 45 per cent on so-called "normal" profits of corporations was too high and "would result in severe hardship on many corporations crippled by priorities and other effects of our war economy."

Concurring in house action fixing a 90 per cent rate on excess profits, the committee said it had believed it wise to cushion the impact of this levy by providing an over-all taxation limit of 80 per cent on surtax net income.

For Post-War Rebates It voted also to allow a post-war rebate of 10 per cent of excess profits taxes collected.

The committee defended, also, its substitution of a 5 per cent "victory" levy on earnings above $624 a year for a house-approved provision levying 5 per cent, with certain exemptions, against wages, interest and dividends as an advance collection on the regular income tax.

The committee recommended broadening of the individual income tax base, as the house had done before it, by reducing the personal exemption for married persons from $1,500 to $1,200 and for single persons from $750 to $500. These exemptions would make single persons earning more than $9.62 weekly and married persons earning more than $23.03 weekly subject to income taxes for the first time.

Departing from the house schedule, the senate committee cut the present credit of $400 for dependents to $300.

Because of the heavy burden to be imposed on individuals, the committee pointed out it had amended the bill to permit deduction from taxable income of all medical expenses exceeding 5 per cent of net income, with a maximum credit of $2,500 for the head of a family and $1,250 for other persons.

COMPARATIVE TABLE Washington, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Following is a table, prepared by the senate finance committee, comparing the total income and withholding taxes which should be collected from individual taxpayers under the new revenue bill as it was approved by the house with the total income and victory taxes to be collected under the bill as revised by the committee.

House bill totals include the 5 per cent withholding levy proposed for current collection of income taxes and senate bill totals exclude the post-war rebate provided for taxpayers.

OUR PHOTO-FLASHES

DOGS FOR DEFENSE—A couple of intelligent canine classmates "Boning Up" for an exam in defensology. More and more dogs are proving their usefulness in defense and systematic training of them is proceeding along large scale lines.

SNOOKS RAPS JAPS—Fanny Brice, alias Baby Snooks, star of "Coffee Time" heard on the air each Thursday night, gleefully breaks up her once-prized "Made in Japan" dinner plates.

FARMERETTES COME TO RESCUE OF TOMATO CROP—(Above) Pleasanton, Calif.—With big baskets and pails the volunteers march into the field to do their part in saving the valuable tomato crop for our fighting men, for lend-lease, and for home-front health. (Left) Mrs. Victor King, of Island Falls, Me., who has two sons in the U. S. Naval Air Force, pitches in on the farm by picking potatoes.

GARDEN REPLACES BOMBED CHURCH—London—This is a portion of the ornamental flower garden planted on the site of the Church of St. John Zachary. The original devastation is still visible in the form of bricks and rubble heaped about the site.

LUXURY JACKETS CUT ON SIMPLE LINES—(1) Lynx is a favorite of the younger set. This collarless wrist-length jacket features the new level shoulder line. (2) Flattering stone marten jacket, highlight of a recent fur fashion show. Diamond jewelry matches the fur in elegance. (3) Still in the limelight—wearable blue fox is the fur used in this classic jacket which will see service from morning to midnight.

TANKS, PLANES LEAD DESERT ATTACKS—California—Attack bombers of the Ground Air Support Command, Army Air Forces, sweep across light tanks of Ground Forces during a phase of desert maneuvers. The formation, while not a tactical one, illustrates the combined striking power of ground and air.

BIG DOINGS IN THE LAND OF MICA—Spruce Pine, N. C.—Demand created by war needs has been responsible for the reopening of 175 new mica mines within the past three months. The miner is bringing out a load of mica and feldspar, a ceramic which occurs along with the mica and is used in pottery.

Conforming with W.P.B. regulations this dress with autumn's newest silhouette "Cigarette slim" is of bright sunny golden tobacco rayon crepe... with contrasting marlboro brown belt, shoes and bag. Hat of silky marlboro brown velvet—with ash blonde vulture feather brim. One of a group of "Cigarette slim" fashions featured in 91 stores in leading cities from coast to coast.

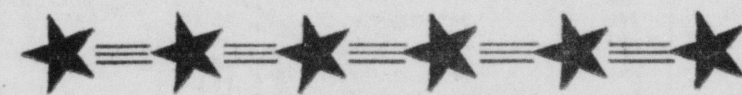

Kearny, N. J., Oct. 4—The photographer who took this one stood ten feet in front of a fire hose, full on. At the new shipyard in Port Newark, N. J., of the Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., U. S. Steel subsidiary, the fire-fighting system includes nozzles which throw a dense fog curtain. As the firemen advance, this curtain literally sweeps away poisonous smoke, enabling other firemen to direct heavy streams against burning buildings in safety, unharmed by smoke.

TITIAN-HAIRED CHARMER—(Oval) Youthful, blue-eyed Leslie Brooks, former model, definitely has "it" because she's under long-term contract to Columbia Pictures. (Left) Ready to strut her stuff, Leslie is a clever dancer and singer and is to be seen in current musical hit pictures.

MR. and MRS. IN ARMY—Philadelphia, Pa.—Mr. and Mrs. Maurice A. Drago were sworn into service together as they became members of Uncle Sam's ever-growing Army. Maurice decided he would like to be an Army pilot. Mrs. Drago said, "But you needn't think I'll sit home while you go to war." P.S.—She joined the WAACS.

AERIAL NAVIGATION CLASSROOM—Coral Gables, Fla.—Photo shows a class of British airmen filing aboard their "classroom." The young men are students at the U. S. Army Navigation School at the University of Miami. The RAF men are the last to be trained here before the school becomes an all-American training center.

Bobby Houston, Jr., Tupelo, Mississippi, got 18,208 signatures within 3 weeks and won the nationwide contest for Victory Son of Elsie, the best known Jersey bull in all the world. "Victory" is one of 1,000 Selective Registered Jersey Sires given to selected dairy farmers throughout America as a War Time gift to increase milk production and build dairy farm profits.

Unusual Bits

SCRAP
Fort Wayne, Ind. — You've heard some folks say, "I'd give my right arm for that?" Well, John Klingberger of Fort Wayne is actually giving his right leg to help whip Hitler, Hirohito & Co.

Don't be alarmed, the leg is durable, unimpaired and a spare one at that. He lost a leg when a rail road engine ran over him in 1935.

REVERSAL
Albany, N. Y. — Twenty-five years ago, Eugene V. O'Sullivan was rejected for armed service because of a slight visual defect. Now at 44, he's one of the proudest men at Camp Upton—OK'd by the same doctor who rejected him in 1917.

SIGNALS CHANGED
Los Angeles—Monday morning quarterbacks who scribbled on the restaurant tablecloths as they diagramed the play, that would have won may have to quit second-guessing—or start carrying slates.

Southern California Restaurant Association members are discarding tablecloths because of a linen shortage.

CLOSE QUARTERS
Portland, Ore.—An unidentified apartment dweller told police there is a limit to everything—including the space in a one-room apartment.

Five persons lived there already. The police were consulted when papa and mama-in-law moved in, too.

CRIME NEVER PAYS
Prineville, Ore. — Burglaring in Prineville is a discouraging business.

Police reported one prowler spent half the night breaking into three business houses. His total haul: $2.

CHARMED LIFE
Idaho Falls, Idaho — There's never a dull moment for Charles Steffler, 30-year-old farm worker.

He was hit by shotgun pellets, but they were so spent when they arrived that he was able to pick them out of the back of his neck himself.

A week later while digging a cellar he was struck and floored by the iron handle of the scraper. He was stunned but not seriously hurt.

Fear Voters Will Fail to Help Lift
Tax From FoodstuffStatehouse Opinion Is Divided Over Reaction of Electorate

By DON HYNDMAN

Springfield Ill., Oct. 6.—(AP)—If you walked up to the average taxpayer on the street and asked him if he would vote to have his state taxes reduced, he probably would give you an "are you crazy?" stare and reply that of course he would—definitely.

Yet that question, in effect, is going to be put up to Illinois voters in the November 3 election and the answer may not be as obvious as you might expect.

Around the statehouse, there is a surprising division of opinion as to whether the voters will approve the constitutional amendment proposal under which the legislature would be empowered to take the 2 per cent sales tax off foods, thereby lopping about $25,000,000 a year from the state's tax bill.

Both the Republican and Democratic organizations favor the amendment. Organized labor is backing it. Governor Green, re-deeming a campaign pledge, sponsored the move to put the issue on the ballot and has urged voters to support it.

All of that support would point to a lopsided majority in favor of the amendment, yet there are some people willing to wager that the proposition will fail to carry.

Sense Traditional Apathy

These forecasters think the traditional apathy of voters toward special referenda will hold true, even though this question touches their pocketbooks, and that thousands will not bother to mark the upper left hand corner of the ballot where the legal language appears. They also point out that organized retail merchants are on record against the amendment.

A failure to vote is the same as a "no" vote, since the proposition will require a favorable majority of all votes cast in the election, and not merely a majority of those voting on the amendment.

The Illinois Federation of Retail Associations, in a resolution opposing the amendment, advanced the contention that its adoption would result sooner or later in the administration having to raise the sale tax rate on other commodities from two to three or four per cent. Loss of revenue from the foods tax would make this necessary, the federation contended.

With sales tax receipts beginning to drop gradually along with other state income sources which have been hit by the war, Governor Green's administration hasn't said how or if it intends to make up for the $25,000,000 a year revenue loss, assuming the amendment is approved at the election, and the legislature goes through with the foods exemption in the 1943 session.

Willkie's Visit to China Featured by Nation's Newsmen

Chungking, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Wendell Willkie spent six hours in conference with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek last night and went to bed after 1 a. m., but was up early today for another crowded schedule.

His talk with the generalissimo was the fourth in an unprecedented series and was the longest ever granted to a foreign personage by the Chinese leader.

The Chinese press continued to feature Willkie's visit with long accounts of his activities and editorial comment. Ta Kung Pao reported that a plan was under way to rename one of Chungking's main streets "Willkie Street."

Ta Kung Pao, in a strongly-worded editorial, expressed the hope that Willkie would inform President Roosevelt and the American public of China's plea for the abrogation of extra-territoriality and foreign concessions.

Praised in Editorial

"Willkie is a straightforward, sincere man who has won the friendship of everyone," the editorial said, "but when we shake his hand there is still the pain hidden deep in our hearts. Here we are a member of the anti-aggression front and we have been taking a beating longer than anybody else. Yet while fighting for a common cause our hands are still shackled by chains imposed by our friends in the last 100 years."

"It is very difficult to understand why the allies still give us unequal treatment."

President Roosevelt's special representative paused in his fact-finding schedule long enough to express the hope Premier Joseph Stalin's letter to Henry Cassidy of The Associated Press in Moscow would "bring Russia's imperative needs forcefully to the attention of the peoples of the United Nations."

He made the terse comment in response to a request for his views on Stalin's statement that a second front was of "first rate importance" and that the allies could best help Russia by fulfilling "their obligations fully and on time."
